hope to get any slave States, and Illinois is decided in favor of Douglas. It will require all the free States to elect in the House, and as hey have no show for either California, Minnesota or Illinois—these three hopelessly Douglas or democratic—it may as well be regarded as settled that the republicans must elect by the people or suffer defeat.

It then comes to this with them, New York or nothing. Can Seward carry New York on any other issue but sigger, nigger, nigger? Certainly not. And so is the milk in the Rochester and Rome eccounted accounted for. It was the last spasmodic effort of a dying clique to save its capital. If the democracy has the boldness and good sense to follow the policy indicated by the HRIAID a few days since, by admitting both Gregon and Kansas immediately, the opposition will have no capital to trade upon, and the democratic party reorganized upon new and national issues will triumph in 1806.

PATAL ACCIDENT ON THE HUDSON RIVER RAILROAD-A MAN AND HIS WIFE KILLED.

A melanchely accident occurred on the Hudson River Railroad, near Tarrytown, on Thursday night, by which a man and his wife named Black were instantly killed. They were walking on the track on their way home from a prayer meeting hold at Tarrytown when the accident a prayer meeting hold at Tarrytown when the accident happened. The engineer knew nothing of the matter at the time, and the supposition is that they stepped directly in front of the engine, as the large lamp in front of the locomotive threw a powerful light for a considerable distance ahead. Mr. Black was no doubt struck by the engine and thrown from the track, as there was scarcely any mark upon the body when discovered. The body of Mrs. Black was shockingly mangled, as if the train had passed over it.

Mr. Black was an Englishman, about 45 years of age. His wife was an American lady, aged 38. They resided at Bokantown, about a mile north of Tarrytown. They leave one child. An inquest was held upon the bodic yesterday.

About three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon last, Mr Miller, a mail agent on the Ohio Central Railroad, was missed from the car. Supposing that he had fallen from the car, the train was instantly stopped. It was then backed slowly, when the body of the unfortunate man was found near a wood pile about six miles from Columbus, torn and mangled in a horrible manner, so much so, that it was almost impossible to lift him up and place him in the car without pieces failing from the body. Singular to relate he was alive when found, but insensible. He lived about three minutes after he was placed in the car. The accident must have happened in this manner—Along the track for a considerable distance is a wood pile, so near the track, that a gentleman informed our reporter that he did not believe that there was four inches between the wood pile and the cars. He is supposed to have stood at the open door of the car, and coming in contact with the wood was dragged from the car and crusted in the small space between the wood pile and the car. Mr. Miller was a highly esteemed citizen of faltimore, about thirty-five years of age, and leaves a wife and dive children:

It is related that a little while before the accident occurred he told some gentlemen who were in the car that a few days previous he informed his wife of a narrow escape which he had by the breaking loose of an engine, when she with tears endeavored to persuade him to leave the road.

This called up the Hon. J. J. His remarks were received with the most enthusiastic applicate, and never did the noble Kentuckian do himself or his subject more justice. Its appeal to the descendants of those who estatished the Society of the Cincinnati, never to forget the avowed object of their fathers in founding the society, was most earnest and thrilling; and his picture of the society was most earnest and thrilling; and his picture of the society was most earnest and thrilling; and his picture of the society rould not and would not separate to their homes without first entering into the organization of a society, the patriotic object of which was to secure to our country the liberties which their valor had schieved by preserving forever the union of the States.
